

THE SAME APPLIES TO LOVE

(Debbie Atterholt – Jean Launay)

Life is just a game, each one has its aim

And the same applies to love

You can win or lose, so you have to choose

And the same applies to love

It's so wonderful, when your cup is full

And the sun shines up above

There's no mystery, no duplicity

And it's you I'm thinking of

In the light, everything's so bright

You're sailin' through the clouds

You have no doubt and you won't sell out

You just don't know what it's all about... Ooh

When you have to fight, you must do it right

A push can lead to shove

There are turns and curves, that will try your nerves

And the same applies to love

In the end, you can count of friends

They're the best things you'll ever have

Make a plan, do what you began

Then you'll find out what it's all about... ooh

Hold on, be strong

The same applies to love

Don't give up, shake it up

The same applies to love

Then you'll find out what it's all about... yeah

Life is just a game, each one has its aim

And the same applies to love

You can win or lose, so you have to choose

And the same applies to love

Hold on, be strong

Don't give up, shake it up

The same applies to love

Hold on now, be strong now

The same applies to love

So don't give up, shake it up

The same applies to love

Hold on, be strong

The same applies to love

Don't give up, shake a leg

The same applies to love
